hollywood regency bedroom

Renowned Australian interior designer Greg Natale shows Adore Home through a Hollywood Regency-styled bedroom created for a Sydney couple.

Whose bedroom is this and what is their occupation?
Jessica and Trent. They have three young children. Trent has a property management company and Jessica has furniture procurement company.

Where is this home situated?
Woollarha in Sydney, New South Wales.

How would you describe this room's style?
Hollywood Regency with my own twist. Hollywood Regency layered mid-century minimalism with pattern and colour in the 1940s.

What's your favourite piece of decor in the room and why?
The rug is my favourite piece of decor because it's part of my rug collection for Designer Rugs and because it grounds and anchors the room.

Were there any design challenges you came up against when designing the room?
Where to put the bed as the room is quite compact. We decided to reinstate the fire place and put the wardrobe opposite the door because this would maximise the space and allow for a king-size bed in between. Once we decided on this, the room came together with the help of the rug and other furniture.

What was the client's brief for the design of the bedroom?
They wanted a black and white bedroom with pops of pink to pick up on the artwork and that would fit their existing king-size bed that was recovered in black.

Describe your own design aesthetic.
We fuse design and decoration together by layering classic and clean lines with pattern and colour. ■

Greg's top 5 design tips

Esteemed Australian interior designer Greg Natale gives Adore Home his top five tips to creating a glamorous Hollywood Regency-style bedroom.

1 Great bedside lights, either lamps or a pendant light. This will frame your bed and add warmth.

2 A rug to anchor the bed will help your bed not float in the room or look messy.

3 Really good bedding with wonderful feature cushions will finish off a room and make it feel luxe.

4 Fabulous artwork above the bed will also help anchor the bed and cover blank walls.

5 Gorgeous bed head.
